

Character Visions

HELPING STUDENTS DEVELOP THEIR BEST SELVES

A COMPREHENSIVE
THREE-LEVEL
CURRICULUM

Middle School Character Curriculum

Character Visions is a character and interpersonal and intrapersonal skills curriculum that impacts middle school students' sense of autonomy, belonging, and competence. The easy-to-follow lessons, based on character education best practices, foster collaboration between students, encourage critical thinking about themselves and the world, and help them be active participants in creating a positive classroom and school community. By helping students identify their own core values, the curriculum provides a variety of opportunities to practice them daily in their school and community.

Program Details

Intention: To cultivate cooperative, compassionate, honest, and reflective middle school students who take responsibility for their learning, identify their own core values, and are given a variety of opportunities to practice them in their school and community.

Overview: A character and inter/intrapersonal skills curriculum that focuses on building a student's sense of autonomy, belonging, and competence. Character Visions helps middle schoolers explore the character traits they would like to live by, connections to other students, and how to make a positive impact in their community.

Outcome: Middle school students who are aware of and intentional about building their personal character strengths feel a strong sense of belonging to their classroom and school. They develop the courage and competence to meet needs in their school and community.

Character Visions is structured across three distinct levels to support student growth throughout their middle school years

Character Visions helps middle schoolers explore:

PERSONAL IDENTITY

The character traits they would like to live by.

COMMUNITY IMPACT

What is happening in their community and how to make a positive impact.

STRONGER CONNECTIONS

Building meaningful connections to their school and other students.
